

COMMISSION TO HAVE POWER TO REGULATE TRADE

Revised Bill Provides for Absorption of the Bureau of Corporations.

The revised administration trade commission bill is ready for introduction in the House, following its approval by the President and the Attorney General and practically the entire membership of the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce. The bill, made public last night, provides for the creation of an Interstate Trade Commission of three members, which is given wide powers of investigation over corporations engaged in interstate commerce.

Members of the commission are to be appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate. They will receive $10,000 a year and not taking their salaries the commissioners shall be of the same party.

Absorbs Entire Bureau.

The new commission absorbs the Bureau of Corporations, including the working force. It is proposed, however, that the commission shall have broader powers than the bureau, which was directly answerable to the President. The Interstate Trade Commission will be an independent body, which may investigate on its own initiative or upon the request of the President, the Attorney General, or either branch of Congress. Federal courts also are entitled to seek the aid of the commission in anti-trust suits.

Chairman Clayton, of the Judiciary Committee, introduced the original trade commission bill, but when the trust program was mapped out the Interstate Commerce Committee was given jurisdiction of this particular measure, the Judiciary Committee having jurisdiction of trust bills. The bill now presented is a substitute for the Clayton measure, and is quite different therefrom.

Favored by Two Parties.

The Administration bill received the unanimous approval of the Democrats and Republicans on the subcommittee named to frame it. These were Congressmen Covington, chairman; Sims, Talcott, Rayburn, and Montague, Democrats; and Stevens, of Minnesota, Egan, and Knowland, Republicans.

The bill will go into the House backed by Chairman Adams and probably every member of the Interstate Commerce Committee.

The commission is to be given discretion to make public the information it gathers concerning corporations.

Guard on Trade Secrets.

On this point, Congressman Covington said today:

"The whole theory of the creation of the commission has been to make it an efficient, independent body. In most of the matters of public interest, it has control of the facts gathered. Publicity is left to its discretion, and the bill contains ample authority for it to prevent the disclosure of those necessary trade secrets, valuable to the public in promoting lawful business, but which, when disclosed, simply afford opportunity for injurious use by competitors."

Authority of Commission.

A section of the bill reads:

"Section 10. The commission shall, upon the direction of the President, the Attorney General, or either house of Congress, investigate the organization, management, and business of any corporation while engaged in commerce to aid in ascertaining whether or not the corporation investigated is violating the act relating to restraint of trade. And the commission shall make a report of such investigation, which may include recommendations for readjustment of business in order that said corporation may thereafter maintain its organization, management, and conduct of business in accordance with law. Reports made after investigation may be made public in the discretion of the commission."

Lecturer on Mexico Denies Intervention

F. Tennyson Neely, repeated his lecture "The Truth About Mexico" at Poll's Theater yesterday afternoon and evening. He used about 200 pictures to illustrate it.

Mr. Neely, whose experiences in the southern republic cover a number of years, is a strong supporter of the policy of President Wilson. He told his auditors that intervention in Mexico should be the last step thought of by the United States. Conditions in Mexico, according to the lecturer, are such that the wisest policy for this country is to let the Huerta forces and the rebels continue fighting until one side or the other brings order out of chaos.

LIBRARY HERE GETS 4,000 RARE BOOKS

Jacob H. Schiff, Banker of New York, Makes Second Gift to Washington.

Scores of literary students flocked to the Library of Congress today to see the books in the second collection just donated by Jacob H. Schiff, New York banker.

This gift includes 4,000 volumes, and was made to supplement a collection given by him in 1912. The rare tomes were gathered in Palestine by Ephraim Delmar.

Every field of Hebrew thought and learning, religious and secular, extending over many centuries, is comprised in this collection. There are Bibles, with their commentaries and supercommentaries; Mishnah and Talmud, with their commentaries; Midrash, Codes of Laws, Calendars, Sermons, liturgy, philosophy, philology, scientific works, history, geography, and belles lettres in general.

Several of the books are first editions. The collection also includes manuscripts, many of which bear early dates.

Then there is a collection of Hebrew melodies and songs, accompanied by notes. Products of modern Hebrew literature also are well represented. This branch of literature is known as "Haskalah," and has developed since the time when Hebrews were allowed to participate in the life and culture of European nations.

It was announced at the library today that these two collections donated by Mr. Schiff form an excellent foundation for the Semitic division, for which an appropriation was provided by Congress last July.

JURY SWORN IN FOR JAIL SUICIDE INQUEST

Guards and Officials Summoned to Investigation Into Death of Prisoner.

A Coroner's jury, which will investigate the circumstances of the suicide Saturday night of David N. Oliver, who hanged himself in a cell at the District Jail, where he was awaiting trial on a charge of having attempted to asphyxiate himself and his two little sons, last February, was sworn in today. The inquest will be held at the District morgue at 11:30 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Oliver's case is the second suicide in a cell in the District Jail this year. A patient in the psychopathic ward of Washington Asylum also hanged himself recently, and three prisoners at No. 1 police station made unsuccessful attempts to end their lives by hanging.

A number of witnesses have been summoned for the inquest tomorrow, including several of the guards and officials, and a thorough investigation will be made.

While there is no question that Oliver's death was a case of suicide, the coroner said the reason for ordering an inquest is the fact that he was known to have had a suicidal tendency. Oliver, who was allowed to participate in the life and culture of European nations.

MISS ALLEN TO WED LT. ANDREWS TODAY

Young Couple Will Go to Virginia to Join Hunting Party Following Ceremony.

Miss Jeanette Allen, daughter of Lieut. Col. Henry T. Allen, U. S. A., will be married to Lieut. Frank M. Andrews, of the Second United States Cavalry, this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, at the home of her parents at 1323 New Hampshire avenue. The Rev. Edward S. Dunlap, assistant rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, will officiate. In the presence of a small party of relatives and a few intimate friends.

The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, will be unattended, and will wear her traveling suit of dark blue silk moire with a hat of blue straw trimmed with spring blossoms. She will carry a bouquet of white roses and orchids.

W. F. Dillingham Best Man.

Walter F. Dillingham, of Honolulu, will be the best man for Lieutenant Andrews.

An informal reception will follow the ceremony.

The engagement of Miss Allen was not known generally, and yesterday when she announced both her engagement and the fact that the wedding was to take place today, Washington was aghast. Miss Allen has lived in Washington for years, as her father has been stationed here twice.

It is said Miss Allen first met Lieutenant Andrews at the Young Men's National Park several years ago. Lieutenant Andrews has been on duty in Honolulu, where he was serving on the staff of Brig. Gen. Montgomery M. Macomb, commanding the First Hawaiian Brigade, U. S. A. Lieutenant Andrews arrived in Washington but a few days ago from Honolulu, and the plans for the wedding have been made since his arrival.
